Views on pricing of steel need to be dispassionate

SUSHIM BANERJEE

Former DG,
Institute of Steel
Development and Growth

STEEL PRICING CONTINUES to occupy a centre piece in the media for the last few weeks. A variety of responses and feedback from end-using sectors, policy planners, industry associations are filling up the pages. It is difficult to take a dispassionate view on the issue from the producers' or users' points of view. Let us look at some of the facts.

Steel prices (HRC as the mother product) went up by ₹16,700 per tonne during July to December 2020. These prices went down by ₹3,100 per tonne during January to June 2020. On a longer time perspective, HRC prices during January-December 2019 went down by another ₹5,500, and therefore, the net increase in HRC prices stands at only ₹8,100 per tonne.

The cyclicity has been very much a part of the steel industry and for that matter for any commodity pricing. For many of the finished products made out of steel, the drop in steel prices is not passed on to end customers as the same is taken to compensate the losses incurred by them on previous occasions (steel price rise was one among many other factors) and there are compelling reasons offered by them to justify this action.

Steel production through BF-BOF route uses iron ore of 1.65 tonne and coking coal of around 750 kg per tonne of steel. Thus prices of iron ore has a higher impact on cost of production of steel.

For steel production through EAF/IF route, prices of iron ore impact prices of sponge iron which is the primary raw material for these producers along with non-coking coal. In case of coking coal (prime hard low vol) price rise was minimal, but thermal coal prices went up from $53.46/t in July 2020 to $98.16/t, which influenced domestic non-coking coal prices. Iron ore prices went up by ₹2,650 per tonne during July-December period.

In Odisha, the auctioned mines are yet to commence production and there has been a lower production out of the existing mines in the state. As a result, there is a supply shortage of around 25-28 MT of iron ore in the state. This has indeed adversely affected small and medium steel players who are dependent on iron ore produced in Odisha. Availability of TMT Bar, wire rods and partially the structural section availability from these segments was a casualty, leading to price rise of these items.

The export of raw materials (especially natural resources)

The current level of customs duty on flat products at 12.5% is lower compared to the duties imposed on HRC imports by advanced countries per tonne, while the spread between CRC and GPC has come down from ₹6,730 per tonne to ₹2,730 per tonne.

There is a repeated reference to Indian steel industry having been flooded with protective measures like ADD and safeguard duty. It is a fact the HRC (both stainless and non-alloy) have received ADD on imports by the Ministry of Commerce which has taken WTO-compliant steps not only for HRC, but also for CRC and wire rods. Actions against dumping under no circumstances should be categorised as protective steps.

The current level of customs duty on flat products at 12.5% is lower compared to the duties imposed on HRC imports by advanced countries and others. It is argued that duties can be brought down to 5% to facilitate more availability as it would not lead to higher imports from Japan and South Korea being under FTA (nil duty). But what about imports from Vietnam, Indonesia, Thailand and even Turkey?

We would be penalising the domestic industry for capacity augmentation in anticipation of a rising domestic market. The clamour for duty reduction on steel items must consider that Chinese imports would flood Indian market through changing the origin of materials and it would engulf CRC and coated products (electro galvanising) in addition to HRC.

An unprofitable steel industry in the country has consistently been denied bank credit on the certification of negative category by the credit rating agencies. At what point the profitability is termed as profiteering must be benchmarked before it is accepted as a strong reason to deprive the industry of the capex for capacity augmentation as specified in the NSP of 2017.

Rupee firms up 10 paise to close at 73.15

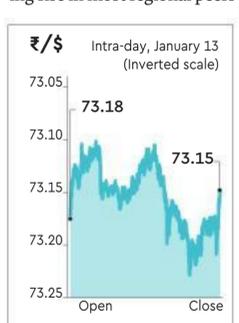

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
Mumbai, January 13

THE RUPEE STRENGTHENED gains for the second straight day and closed 10 paise higher at 73.15 against the US dollar on Wednesday, tracking upbeat Asian currencies and sustained foreign fund inflows.

At the interbank forex market, the rupee opened at 73.16, and hit an intra-day high of 73.10 and a low of 73.23. It finally finished at 73.15, higher by 10 paise over its last close.

Meanwhile, the dollar index, which gauges the greenback's strength against a basket of six currencies, rose 0.07% to 90.15.

"The Indian rupee appreciated against the US dollar for the second straight session against the US currency, tracking rise in most regional peers and a slight pullback in the dollar index," said Sriram Iyer, senior research analyst at Reliance Securities.

The rupee was also helped by foreign inflows in equities with overseas investors pumping in just under $2 billion in Indian shares in the month of January, Iyer said.

According to Saif Mukadam, research analyst, Sharekhan by BNP Paribas, the rupee traded with a positive bias on weakness in dollar and steady FII inflows. "However, sharp gains were capped on surge in crude oil prices and worries over rising coronavirus cases across globe and tightened COVID-19 restrictions to curb the outbreak. Rupee may trade in the range of 72.85 to 73.60 in next couple of sessions," Mukadam noted.

Brent crude futures, the global oil benchmark, rose 0.18% to $56.68 per barrel.

The Korean won and the Thai baht led Asian currencies higher, climbing 0.5% each.

BMC NOTICE ON ILLEGAL CONSTRUCTIONS

HC reserves order on Sonu Sood's plea

OMKAR GOKHALE
MUMBAI, JANUARY 13

THE BOMBAY HC Wednesday reserved order on a plea filed by actor Sonu Sood, challenging the ruling of civil court that had dismissed his application against a notice issued by BMC for allegedly carrying out structural changes to a residential building owned by him at Juhu in Mumbai without due permissions. The HC had, on January 11, continued till January 13 the stay on the civil court order. On October 24, last year, BMC had issued a notice under Section 53(1) of Maharashtra Regional and Town Planning Act to Sood and his wife Sonali, giving them a month to restore the property as per its original plan or get approval for changes. The BMC pasted the notice on the property on October 27.

The actor had approached the city civil court seeking a stay on the BMC notice. He had moved HC when the civil court ruling went against him. Sood and his wife, in their petition, had claimed they did not carry out any "illegal or unauthorised" construction in the six-storey Shakti Sagar building.

Describing the actor and his wife as "habitual offenders", the BMC had told court Tuesday that the couple wants to "enjoy the commercial proceeds of their unauthorised work" and has started reconstructing the demolished parts to run it like a hotel.

On Wednesday, advocate Amogh Singh, appearing for the actor, told the court that the BMC notice was "vague" and didn't mention the nature of alleged alterations. He said the concerned BMC official had not passed a "speaking order" to actor's reply to notice and the Soods had approached the HC apprehending demolition.

The actor said he could not avail clearance from MCZMA, as it was delayed due to the pandemic.

Senior counsel Anil Sakhare, appearing for BMC, said Sood had constructed hotel rooms on pre-text of "beautification" and approached court with "unclean hands". Seeking that his plea be dismissed, Sakhare said Sood can't be permitted to continue with commercial activity of running a hotel. After conducting a three-hour hearing, a single-judge bench of Justice Prithviraj K Chavan reserved its order on the plea.

UNAUTHORISED STRUCTURES

HC pulls up civic bodies, says 'there is no will'

OMKAR GOKHALE
MUMBAI, JANUARY 13

THE BOMBAY High Court, while raising concerns about illegal structures and building collapses causing loss of lives, said on Wednesday that if municipal corporations are not in position to take action against unauthorised structures, "the situation will become quite difficult" in cities.

A division bench of Chief Justice (CJ) Dipankar Datta and Justice Girish S Kulkarni sought ward-wise data from eight municipal corporations in Mumbai Metropolitan Region, including BMC, pertaining to notices issued against unauthorised structures, steps taken against them, number of cases in which compensation was recovered and cases related to illegal structures under litigation.

It also asked the state government to consider if separate tribunal can be formed to expedite hearings on pending litigations related to illegal structures.

The bench was hearing a suo motu public interest litigation it had initiated last September after the collapse of a building in Thane's Bhiwandi, which claimed nearly 40 lives.

Senior counsel Sharan Jagtiani, who was appointed by the HC as amicus curiae to assist it with the case, said that several corporations, including BMC, had not mentioned the total number of unauthorised structures and steps taken against them in their replies.

"If corporations are not in a position of implementing the provisions of the statute, the situation is going to become quite difficult," CJ Datta said. The bench also observed that most corporations do not seem proactive in taking action against illegal structures.

When CJ Datta inquired with BMC's counsel why data about illegal structures was missing in its affidavit, senior counsel Anil Sakhare said that 40 per cent of the city's land is occupied by slums and exact figures pertaining to buildings that had unauthorised floors may not be available.

Justice Kulkarni referred to a Madras High Court order, which had told authorities that till the time a illegal structure is demolished, the person putting it up may pay extra tax. "So many measures can be taken. There is no will and what are they (corporations) waiting for? They do not know. We are heading for what God knows..." he added.

"The pandemic has taught us many things. Does every person, including migrants, who come to work in Mumbai need to check if building/structure has permissions and is safe? Human life cannot be cheap," Justice Kulkarni said.

The bench posted for further hearing in March first week.

AGNELO VALDARIS CUSTODIAL DEATH

Plea in court seeks CBI chargesheet on murder charges against cops

SADAF MODAK
MUMBAI, JANUARY 13

THE FATHER of 25-year old Agnelo Valdaris, who died in the custody of the Wadala Government Railway Police (GRP) in 2014, along with two others, filed a protest petition before the special court on Wednesday seeking that the CBI be directed to file a chargesheet on charges of murder against the accused police personnel.

Last November, the Supreme Court had directed the special court to examine all aspects of the case and decide under which sections can the accused be tried.

The Bombay High Court, in 2019, had said that Agnelo's death was a prima facie case of custodial death and directed the special court to frame charges of murder and destruction of evidence against the accused police personnel. The SC order came on an appeal filed by the police personnel against the HC order.

In April 2014, Agnelo, along with three others, including a minor, was apprehended by the Wadala GRP for a probe into a theft case. The four were allegedly sexually abused and physically tortured by the accused. On April 18, 2014, the police claimed that Agnelo had died after being run over by a train while escaping from custody.

Agnelo's father, Leonard, had moved the HC stating that Agnelo had not died in the train accident but was murdered. The HC, in its order in December 2019, had said that the three others picked up along with Agnelo had said in their statements that he was in no position to walk after being assaulted by the police personnel and that there were "inconsistencies" in the CBI probe.

The protest petition sought that the court rejects the three chargesheets filed by the CBI in 2015, 2016 and 2018 and the central agency be directed to file a supplementary chargesheet under Section 302 (murder) of the Indian Penal Code.

The petition added that evidence shows that Agnelo did not die in the train accident, as was being portrayed and that there are no station diary entries to show when he was taken out of custody before the alleged accident.

While the CBI had filed chargesheets under the Protection of Children from Sexual Offences, as the police personnel had been accused of sexually abusing the minor, the agency has maintained that Agnelo had died in the train accident.

The SC, in its order last November, had said that the findings of the HC will not be treated as binding on the special court and it should independently apply its mind. It had also said that the victims were at liberty to file protest petitions to be dealt by the trial court in accordance with law.

The special court directed the accused and the CBI to file a reply to the protest petition on Wednesday and posted the matter for further hearing next month.

Call centre that posed as finance firms & defrauded people busted, 11 arrested

SAGARRAJPUT
MUMBAI, JANUARY 13

THE MUMBAI Police on Monday raided a fake call centre in Ghatkopar and arrested 11 people, including six women, for allegedly duping several people on the pretext of settling their loans for less than half the outstanding amount.

The group took advantage of the situation caused by the pandemic and after acquiring the list of borrowers from different banks and institutions, they approached the loanees by posing as executives from these institutions and defrauded them of cash, police said.

According to the police, the fake call centre, which is based at Kailash Esplanade in Ghatkopar, started operating in April after the nationwide lockdown was announced by the government. The scam came to light in December after a 61-year-old man was duped of Rs 39,200, police said. The man then approached Shivaji Park police station and lodged a complaint, police said.

The complainant told police that he had taken a loan from two finance institutions. The complainant had been paying monthly installments but due to the lockdown, his earnings reduced and he requested a moratorium, which was granted him till August. On November 17, he received a call from a certain Raj, who said he could settle his Rs 34,000 dues on a loan he had taken from a financial institution for Rs 17,500. Since the complainant was still struggling to pay his installments, he agreed.

Raj then sent an aide to the complainant's apartment to take the cash, police said. A day later, the complainant called Raj and asked for his help in settling an outstanding loan of Rs 1.4 lakh that he had taken from another financial institution.

"Raj said he has a friend working there and the complainant's loan could be settled for Rs 21,700," said a police officer. On November 21, another aide visited the complainant, gave him a settlement letter and took the cash. But on December 2, when an actual representative from the financial institution went to the complainant's apartment to take the money, the complainant showed him the settlement letter, who forwarded it to his superior. After scrutinising further, the institution's officials realised that the payment had never reached them.

The 61-year-old then checked with the first financial institution and even it hadn't received any money, so he went to the police station and lodged a complaint. Shivaji Park police station registered a case under sections of cheating and cheating by impersonation.

Assistant Police Inspector Pandari Kandhe of Shivaji Park police station started hunting for the culprit by scrutinising the call data records of the person who had gone to the complainant's apartment to collect cash.

"We managed to locate Ketan Mishra at Ghatkopar and brought him in for interrogation. We then learnt that Somnath Das was the mastermind in the case," said Kandhe.

The police then learned that the suspects were running an illegal call centre in Ghatkopar.

On Monday afternoon, the police raided their office in Kailash Esplanade and arrested 10 people, including six women. The police seized 132 SIM cards, seven computers, four laptops and seven mobiles from the call centre. The accused, Neelam Gholap, Kajal Singh, Sayali Sonawane, Vrushali Pol, Archana Parte, Nandini Nikam, Vijay Prasram, Syed Mehmood, Krushna Jadhav and Das, have been remanded to police custody till January 15.

"We suspect that people from the finance companies are also involved because the accused managed to get the contact numbers of the loanees," said an investigator.

ECONOMICALLY DISADVANTAGED CHILDREN

School teachers start fundraiser to help students get e-learning tools

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
MUMBAI, JANUARY 13

TWO SCHOOL teachers at Ja'fari School in Govandi started a fundraiser earlier this week to provide their economically disadvantaged students with online education tools like smartphones, cover phone recharges and other forms of support for their families to ensure they do not drop out of school.

Bhagyashree Nambiar and Anisha Chamaria, both fifth grade teachers at the private school, started a fundraiser on Ketto.org to raise Rs 2 lakh. They took the initiative because most of the parents of their students are daily wage workers. The school mostly caters to children from the slums of Govandi.

The teachers, grappling with an array of challenges to make sure that none of their students falls through the cracks because of the collateral damage of the Covid-19 pandemic, said that in their class of 66, only 35 students make it to the online classroom. Even as they enter the third term of virtual teaching, the other students struggle with limited access to internet.

"The Covid-19 pandemic has altered the entire education ecosystem. Zoom classes and online exams are the new normal. But unfortunately, not all have the capacity or resources to embrace this change. Children from the low-income community have been affected...The money raised through the Ketto fundraiser will enable us to provide our students with the study materials," said Nambiar.

Chamaria said, "We are turning to people to extend support to us, to our children, their siblings and parents."

The fundraiser, which is open for another 47 days, has so far raised Rs 57,019.

With the money they raise, the teachers aim to sponsor smartphones or learning devices for their students, basic stationary needs, cover crucial medical expenses and data charges. They also plan to support the students' families with fee payments for this year to ensure they don't drop out of school.
