June inflows in equity MFs lowest in 51 months

FE BUREAU
Mumbai, July 8

NET INFLOWS INTO equity mutual funds stood at ₹240.55 crore in June 2020, which is the lowest in 51 months. Even inflows even through systematic investment plans (SIPs) slowed down marginally after remaining resilient through the pandemic.

Market participants attribute the fall in equity inflows to ongoing pandemic, coupled with economic uncertainty and poor returns of mid and small cap funds. Inflows through SIPs in June stood at ₹7,927.11 crore. In all the months of the previous fiscal, inflows through SIPs were above ₹8,100 crore. Even in April and May this financial year, SIPs' contribution was ₹8,376 crore and 8,123 crore, respectively. Despite Sensex giving returns of over 7.7% in June, market participants are expecting outflows from equity funds as several investors have redeemed their mutual fund investments. "There is lot of uncertainty due to the novel Coronavirus and its overall impact on the economy. While many investors have taken advantage of rising markets by booking profits, many are waiting on the sidelines and are not committing fresh money in equity funds," said the CEO of a leading fund house. He added that weak performance of equity funds, especially midcap ones, was one of the reasons for outflows in June.

Slowdown in the economy has started to hurt even high net worth individuals (HNIs) as they continued exiting equity funds in the past two-three months, said industry officials. Data from the Association of Mutual Funds in India (Amfi) show that multicap funds and large cap funds saw net outflows of ₹777.60 crore and ₹212.78 crore, respectively, in June.

According to G Pradeep Kumar CEO of Union AMC, slowing down of the monthly SIP contribution is worrying, but not completely unexpected, given the strain on cash flows and income experienced by investors on account of Covid-19.

According to industry officials, 9.08 lakh new SIPs were registered in June while 6.57 lakh SIPs were discontinued or their tenure got completed.

However, equity linked saving schemes, focused funds and small cap funds continued to see net inflows in the range of ₹250-590 crore in June. Debt funds saw inflows of ₹2,861.68 crore in June.

Overall, the MF industry saw net inflow of ₹7,265.68 crore during the month under review.

'Length of lockdown to determine performance of asset classes'

FE BUREAU
Mumbai, July 8

THOUGH IT IS hard to forecast how different asset classes will fare in times of a pandemic, there are two scenarios that are likely to play out, based on the duration of the lockdown, as economies start reopening, according to DSP Investment Managers.

If there is a short lockdown of three to six months and economies start opening up after that, there will be pent-up demand that businesses would witness. This would be accompanied by excess liquidity due to fiscal stimulus measures taken by central banks, leading to a V-shaped recovery in stock prices, it said. "In this scenario, the asset classes that are likely to do well include equity funds and bond funds. Healthcare as a theme is likely to do well," Kalpen Parekh, president of DSP Investment Managers, said. If the Covid spread does not get contained and countries start witnessing second or third wave of cases, further lockdowns are likely to follow. In such a scenario, there could be stress in the financial sector. It would also result in prolonged slowdown and recession, said DSP Investment Managers.

"In cases of longer lockdowns, extended slowdown, recession, bear market rallies and longer periods of correction could be witnessed. In such a scenario, asset classes such as small part of the stock market, which has companies with free cash flow, will do well. Hedge funds that leverage long and short positions in the market will do well. Debt funds with roll down maturities and gold will also fare better," said Parekh.

KEM doctor 'duped of over Rs 2 lakh online on pretext of receiving gifts'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
MUMBAI, JULY 8

A 27-YEAR-OLD doctor employed by KEM Hospital was allegedly duped of Rs 2.36 lakh by unidentified fraudsters. The doctor was honey-trapped and forced to pay the amount on the pretext of receiving gifts, police said.

According to police, the doctor is an ENT resident at St GS Medical College attached with KEM hospital, and was chatting with a person, who identified herself as a woman by the name of Ila Manisha, on Instagram.

Police said the doctor recently received a message from the woman, where she said she had sent him a parcel that had to be collected from the customs office at Delhi airport, after a payment Rs 36,000 as clearing charges and delivery.

Police further said he subsequently got a call from a person, identifying himself as customs officer Anup Kumar, who asked him to pay Rs 36,950 for clearance. The fraudsters called him again and demanded Rs 1.99 lakh to clear customs, which the complainant transferred in two transactions, they added.

"When the man contacted the doctor again and asked for another Rs 49,500, the complainant refused to pay further and approached police," an officer said. After conducting a preliminary investigation, police have registered a case of cheating against unidentified persons. Police also said they were trying to ascertain the location from where the phone calls were made to the doctor. "We have also asked for bank account details in which the money was transferred," an officer said.

Bombay HC warns of action against officials shirking responsibility during pandemic

OMKARGOKHALE
MUMBAI, JULY 8

THE AURANGABAD bench of the Bombay High Court Tuesday pulled up the authorities for shirking responsibilities during the Covid-19 pandemic and said the system could be cleaned after taking action against negligent officials.

Hearing a suo motu PIL raising concern over the spike in Covid-19 cases and a lack of coordination between various authorities in Aurangabad region, a division bench of Justices Tanaji Nalawade and Shrikant D Kulkarni said the "court intends to take such action against all those public servants who are passing the buck and who are shirking the responsibility".

The bench observed, "This is really a testing time. Public servants will be tested and it can be ascertained as to whether they are sincere and they have devotion to the duty. If to save their own lives and to save skin they are shirking responsibility, then it can be presumed that there is no use of them in the system, and after taking criminal action against them they can be removed and this way the system can be cleaned."

Earlier, on July 3, the division bench had expressed dissatisfaction over lack of coordination between authorities in Aurangabad and said it may visit Covid-19 quarantine facilities and hospitals to see whether discipline was being maintained.

Activists send legal notice to information commissioner over backlog of RTI appeals

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
MUMBAI, JULY 8

SEVEN RTI activists have sent a legal notice to the office of Maharashtra State Information Commissioner (MSIC), alleging delay in disposing of appeals leading to a backlog of cases. The MSIC chief, however, said there had always been a backlog, and that they had started online appeals to reduce the load since the Covid-19 outbreak.

Activist Shailesh Gandhi said, "RTI in Maharashtra is suffering since appeals and complaints are languishing in the Information Commissions for over a year and more. The law meant to give information in 30 days is derailed at the Information Commissions, which adhere to no timelines and are not displaying a sense of responsibility to ensure time-bound delivery of information."

The activists said over 58,000 cases were pending and there was no sense of urgency displayed by the commission.

The notice issued through advocate Sunil Ahya states, "When the second appeal is not heard and disposed for an unreasonable period and, in fact, some for even more than a year, then this entire time-bound scheme of the Act is abruptly lost and makes it go adrift resulting in grave miscarriage of justice and undermines the faith of the people of India in the participatory democracy, which requires an informed citizenry and transparency of information."

Chief Information Commissioner Sumit Mullick said they were holding online hearings of appeals since June 15.

"There has always been pendency as the inflow of appeals is much more as compared to staff available. Due to the pandemic, only some of the staff manages to come to work. Also, in some cases, the complaints are against the BMC and police officials, who are also involved in Covid duties.

So we have to maintain a balance," Mullick added.

The notice stated that if there was no response within four weeks, they would "seek appropriate legal remedies in the court of law".
